Helpful Tips & Guidelines

Eat snacks if hungry, not necessary to have them especially if work involves hours of sitting.

*Meal replacement shake – Whey/dairy, soy, grain, sugar free. From natural sources.

Good for you anti-inflammatory foods:

- Vegetables – especially dark green ones – frozen is fine
- Fruit – in small amounts
- Meat – Grass fed is best – keep in mind, if the animal ate grains and got injected with steroids and medicine you are consuming that too.
- Fish – Wild caught is best – farm raised fish is no good for the fish or us.
- Eggs – free range organic is best – bleached eggs = processed eggs
- Seeds – Good for a filler, but don't overdo it, they contain lots of good fat that can become bad fat when consumed in large quantities
- Nuts – but no peanuts; same guidelines as seeds, derivatives such as sunflower seed & almond butter are great too
- Yams – In small amounts, especially if trying to lose weight.
- Oils/butters – Coconut, avocado, olive, in small amounts for dressings, baking & cooking

Not good for you inflammatory foods:

- Sugar - and anything that contains it
- Soy - and anything that contains it
- Gluten - and anything that contains it
- Dairy products – and anything that contains any – Including Whey!
- Grain – and anything that contains it – this includes ANY type of bread or pasta
- Corn – it is not a vegetable, it's a grain
- Alcohol – Even one ounce significantly decreases testosterone levels
- Processed foods
- Packaged foods
- Fried foods
- Imitation foods and fruits – ex. crab meat, grapples, fruit snacks, etc.

Fluids:

- Water – consume twice the body weight in ounces daily
- Coffee and tea are fine with no sugar or cream
- Kombucha tea

Sweet Potato Noodle Pad Thai

INGREDIENTS

Omelet shreds:

- 1-2 Teaspoons avocado oil
- eggs

Sweet Potato Noodles:

- 1½ pounds sweet potatoes, peeled
- 2 Tablespoons avocado oil
- 1 large clove garlic, minced
- 1 bunch green onions, thinly sliced

Pad Thai Sauce:

- 3 Tablespoons fish sauce
- 1 Tablespoon tamarind paste
- 1 Tablespoon freshly squeezed lime juice
- 1 Tablespoon coconut sugar, or maple syrup
- 1 Teaspoon chili powder

Toppings:

- 1 cup toasted cashews or peanuts for traditional
- ½ cup chopped cilantro

INSTRUCTIONS

1. Mix together all the ingredients for the sauce, and prep all the toppings to set aside until the end.
2. Preheat a 15" non-stick skillet over medium heat. Add 1-2 teaspoons oil to the pan, whisk the eggs together in a bowl and then pour them into the preheated pan. Swirl the eggs around to all the edges, then push the set eggs to the middle and continue to swirl the uncooked eggs to the edges. When the eggs are about half cooked, lower the heat to low and cover. Cook without stirring until the omelet is done. Using a spatula, carefully slide the omelet out of the pan onto a cutting board. Don't worry if it breaks a bit. Cut the omelet into strips and set them aside until the end of the cooking time.
3. Spiralize the sweet potatoes using the 6mm blade (the bigger noodle blade) on a spiralizer, and set the noodles aside.
4. Add the 2 tablespoons of oil to the same pan you used for the omelet along with the garlic and green onions, sauté over medium high heat for about 1 minute, and then add the sweet potato noodles. Sauté the sweet potato noodles until just softened, about 8-10 minutes. I partially cover the pan with a lid to speed things up a bit, and it creates a softer noodle.
5. When the noodles have softened, add the Pad Thai sauce, omelet shreds, cashews, and chopped cilantro to the pan. Coat all ingredients, serve!
